ALTONA TO GET HOSTEL FOR AGED?

The Salvation Army has asked Altona Council for land for a hostel for the aged.

West gets $2m

The Federal Government has made a $2 million grant to the western suburbs.

The region includes Altona, Footscray, Williamstown, Sunshine, Werribee, Bacchus Marsh, Essendon, Melton, and Keilor.

The Minister for Urban and Regional Development, Mr. Tom Uren, said the grant would be available under an area improvement programme.

The grant follows the first year's operation of the programme in the region.

The programme will go ahead when agreement has been reached between the Federal and State Governments.

Mr. Uren said: "The funds will be for activities and projects not covered by other special purpose grants such as those available for tourism, recreation, social services, urban roads and the arts."

"They will be in addition to the united grants allocated by the Australian Grants Commission to local councils for the first time this year."

"The types of projects include, land acquisitions for environment protection, improvement of parks and gardens, protection of waterways, library and information services and assistance with planning studies."

Major Gordon Fischer of the Salvation Army told Altona Council in a recent letter that the Salvation Army had an entitlement to a 40-unit hostel under the Hostel Act, 1973.

He said that suitable land located in proximity to transport and shopping was needed.

The establishment of a hostel would also require an understanding with a nearby general hospital and nursing home on a two-way basis, Major Fischer said.

The letter expressed a willingness to combine the hostel with other services to the aged such as physiotherapy.

Altona Council discussed the contents of the letter at its meeting last week along with a letter from Altona District Hospital advising that the board of management had not reached a decision on a proposed geriatric unit because of the considerable cost involved.

The hospital earlier had supported the unit proposal by the Altona Lions Club in a letter to the Hospital and Charities Commission.

The letter to the Commission indicated that if such a unit were built it would have to be designed for supervision as part of a ward unit, without creating undue additional work to existing staff.

Cr. Alan Shaw said he understood the Salvation Army was looking to a geriatric flow-on later.

He said 10 per cent. of the population was over 65 and by 1980 it was estimated 14 per cent. would be in that age group.

"By helping the aged, we are not giving them any special benefit — we're only trying to give them their rights," Cr. Shaw said.

Cr. Les Crofts said he knew every councillor appreciated the problem. He said the Government should play its part by regarding the matter as an expense against the taxpayer rather than the ratepayer.

The town clerk, Mr. Syd Fell said suitable land was available but he understood the Salvation Army was thinking in terms of three to four acres to allow future expansion.

A motion, that Major Fischer be asked to attend a meeting of the Altona Welfare Committee was carried.

Help with HSC in '75

Students from the western suburbs who will be studying for their Higher School Certificate next year are invited to attend a summer school at Melbourne University from January 13 to 24.

The school embraces lectures, discussion groups, forums and films and aims to introduce students to the HSC year.

Anyone interested in attending should ring 347 7477 or 347 7687.

Police warn motorists and louts

Lawbreaking motorists and louts are given fair warning by Altona police of a Christmas-New Year holiday blitz planned to make the festive season more enjoyable and safe for the public.

Acting-sergeant Alan Kennedy said police would be keeping a sharp eye on motorists, as the holiday period presented a big blitz and no mercy will be shown to offenders," he said.

"We will be conducting frequent patrols will also be made along the foreshore to stop louts bothering people at the beach.

should be given a forwarding address so that they may be contacted in the event of a break-in, or other emergency.

A warning was given by Sgt. Kennedy to people going away for their holidays.

"Electricity should be turned off and cancellations of deliveries such as milk and papers should be made personally rather than by leaving notes."

"Neighbors should also be asked to collect mail delivered to the house so that it will not pile up and advertise the fact that a family is away."

Sgt. Kennedy said that where possible, neighbors

A neighbor who may see anyone acting suspiciously should ring Altona police on 398 2976, or Laverton CIB on 399 2441.

Mayor's message

The mayor of Altona, Cr. Ian Stewart, has issued the following Christmas message to residents of the city:

"We live in times of rapid change in our standards of living and ability to communicate with people in a much wider sphere."

"These changes have resulted in us all accepting a greater personal involvement and awareness of responsibility."

"Our community participation is no longer limited to the area in which we live."

"In this Christmas let us all remember the great responsibility which we have to make this world a better place in which to live and through the various charities in our midst, may we give support and assistance to the needs of those people not as fortunate as ourselves."

"I join with the mayoress, my fellow councillors and their wives in wishing you all a happy Christmas".

Employers: Altona High needs you

Employers are asked to co-operate in a work experience program to be instituted at Altona High School from the beginning of the next school year.

Art teacher Jan Trickey said the school would like factories, institutions or tradesmen operating small businesses to involve a student or students in the operation.

She said the scheme was not new and had been conducted with success overseas and at other high schools in Victoria.

Miss Trickey said the aim was twofold, to enable students to gain work experience as part of their education and to introduce them to their future careers.

"The employer also benefits by meeting potential employees and by the knowledge that their prior experience of the work lessens the possibility of future job dissatisfaction and failure to fulfil apprenticeships.

"Students are to participate in a job rather than observe and employers are not committed to employing the student," Miss Trickey said.

Students who would have left school after form four this year who may not find a job are invited to participate in the scheme as part of a special non-academic fifth form.

Students following an academic course will not participate in the work programme.

The scheme allows the student to obtain work experience 12 days each school term. It is hoped that each student will benefit by three separate and different work programmes for the year.

The student may be employed one day a week for 12 weeks in a term or in a 12-day block employment.

A Work Experience Bill is now before Parliament. The Bill aims to make the legal position clear for such schemes.

Students will be considered workers under the Workers' Compensation Act only if they are paid. An employer otherwise may be liable for any injury sustained during the employment.

Minimum pay has been set out at $5 per day and the Bill also provides for a maximum of three arrangements, with different employers, for each pupil in the one year.

An arrangement may be varied, amended or cancelled by either party by giving notice in writing.

Supervisor of the scheme is English teacher, Miss M. Weinfeld, who will be available at any time during the year for queries. Any employer wishing to engage a student should ring Miss Weinfeld on 398 1301.

Fear lands one lad in strife

An obsessive fear of police landed this young man into trouble when a constable went to investigate some foolery in Douglas Parade, Williamstown, at 1.30 a.m. on November 5.

Police naturally did a quick U-turn and had a second look after they saw the fearful one's friend lying on his back on the road with his feet in the door of a car.

At the sight of the police, Detlaf Kieper, 19, of Douglas Parade, bolted, jumped over a fence and hid in a garden.

Constable Gary Jamieson told the Williamstown Court last Thursday that he found Kieper lying face down.

He grabbed Kieper, who told him to put $50 in the resisted violently and used both indecent and threatening language in the presence of others.

"You're not going to get me to the police station to be bashed," he said to Jamieson.

Later, at the police station, he said: "No answer" to each of a series of questions put to him.

Const. Jamieson said Kieper's parents were present because of his apparent fear.

His father was surprised at his conduct.

Kieper told Mr. G. Hoare, SM, that he had not been drinking that night, as police said.

He was afraid of police because on another occasion he'd been picked up at Footscray and wrongly found guilty of using indecent language.

Mr. Hoare gave Kieper, an apprentice panel-beater, a 12-months' $100 good-behavior bond and

He pleaded guilty to charges of using indecent and threatening language and resisting arrest.

Altona Lions play Santa

Members of Altona Lions' Club played Santa Claus last Sunday morning when they distributed 106 frozen chickens free of charge to elderly widows and widowers in the city.

Eight new Lions were inducted last month by district governor Stan Wheat from Williamstown. They are: John Kessner, Ken Edgar, Eric Nicholson, Jack Drain, Bob Gent, Dudley Rogash, Ron Wilson and Laurie Hince.

Airman had .2 reading TWO DIED IN ANZAC DAY CRASH

A man who caused a head-on smash last Anzac Day, killing two people, was fined $200 in Williamstown Court last Thursday and barred from driving for two years.

Anthony Bryan Coole, 25, a member of the RAAF now stationed at Williamstown, NSW, sat impassively as the story of the tragedy unfolded again.

This was the second time he'd been through it. The first time was when the coroner inquired into the smash and recorded a finding of "misadventure".

The victims were Mrs. Anna Perusco, of Blackshaws Road, Altona, wife of the driver of the other car and Raymond Starkie, a RAAF friend of Coole.

Sergeant James Kenneday, of the Police Accident Appreciation Squad, recounted the events to Mr. G. Hoare, SM, after Coole pleaded guilty to careless driving and a .05 charge.

Sgt. Kenneday said Coole drove along Kororoit Creek Road at about 4.45 p.m. at a speed estimated between 75 and 80 miles an hour. His Torana swerved, hit the gravel and struck the other car.

Coole, later, was found to have a Breathalyzer reading of .2.

Mr. Hoare was told that Coole, a married man with two children, had been in the RAAF for 2½ years. He had an exemplary service record.

Mr. Hoare said at first that on what he'd heard, he would send Coole to gaol, but later he remarked: "Coole must have suffered a great deal. His conduct has cost the lives of two people. His blood-alcohol reading was exceptionally high on this Anzac Day.

Barman stole $250 from the tills

A temporary barman, a bank officer at the time, stole $250 from tills at the Bristol Hotel, Williamstown, over a period of three months, Williamstown Court was told last Thursday.

Peter William Bellett, 29, of Simmonds Avenue, Seaholme, admitted the theft when questioned by police. He said he was very sorry and paid the money back in full.

Mr. J. McNamara told Mr. G. Hoare, SM, that this lapse was Bellett's first.

He had a good background, having been a keen sportsman and a prefect at the Williamstown Technical School.

Before his trouble he was in charge of a sub-branch of a bank but since then he had lost his job and his home. He was now unemployed with a wife and two children to support.

Mr. McNamara said Bellett had, in effect, been punished heavily already.

Mr. Hoare agreed. He turned to Bellett, a good-looking, neatly-dressed man, and said: "You are too old for probation.

"I will adjourn this charge for 12 months and give you a $500 good-behavior bond."

A considerable weight seemed to lift from Bellett's burdened shoulders.

Wed at Altona

St. Mary's Catholic Church Altona was the setting for the wedding of Keith Tyrrell and Vicki Terry.

Vicki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Terry, of Railway Street, Altona, was attended by her sister Tracey and Mrs. Maria Charbiarski.

Keith, of Millers Road, Altona, had Mr. Paul O'Connor as his best man.

A reception was held at the Hotel Australia.

Val's Column

Hello Girls,

Earlier this year Revlon launched a new dimension in nail enamel, the long-wearing, brilliantly crystalline "Extra Extra crystalline" nail enamel. This new formulation is the longest, hardest wearing nail enamel available. Revlon have now introduced six new dazzling rich shades which are in keeping with the coming fashion shades of gold for this summer. The colours, Coppergold, Golden Ruby, Golden Wine, Goldfire, Marigold and Plum Gold are very warm and wearable and subtly beautiful for day or evening on summer tanned hands.

We are going through a period when times and fashions are changing at a faster rate than they have ever before. In today's society nothing is static. Hence Revlon felt that their current Natural Wonder lipstick formula and colour range was not sufficiently contemporary; so they have introduced Natural Wonder 'Sheer Colour' Lipstick. This new formulation has more slip for easier, smoother application. It has a lighter look and a moister feel and, in keeping with current trends, it incorporates a sensational shine. This lipstick is different in another way, in that coverage can be controlled just as it can be controlled in foundations. Because of its light creamy consistency, the lipstick can deliver sheer but vivid colour, ranging for just a touch of colour to an interesting depth depending upon the look you wish to achieve.

Yardley have introduced a new way to burn incense : : you're the fire. It's not the heat of a flame but the heat of your body that releases the scent. Because no fire is as exciting as the one within you. Come and try it if you're game. It's on display in Herbert's Amcal Pharmacy now.

There are only very few shopping days left before Christmas now. If you haven't bought all your presents yet, we still have a large range of gifts of all types on display. If you can't see what you want on display don't be afraid to ask one of the friendly staff at Herbert's Amcal Pharmacy. We are all here to help you and offer any advice you may need.

Come in and see us tomorrow.

ALTONA WEST PRIMARY
Grade six pupils who have graduated to secondary schools were presented with certificates at a ceremony held at the school on Monday night.

The presentations were followed by a dance with music supplied by a local pop band and supper prepared by members of the mothers' club.

Earlier in the day the mothers' club was joined by the staff at a luncheon at which farewell presents were given to staff leaving for other schools.

SEAHOLME PRIMARY
The school's recent concert and operetta at the Williamstown Town Hall was a great success with about 1000 attending.

Thanks are due to a number of other schools in the district for their help, and to the many people who helped at the hall.

ALTONA EAST PRIMARY
Pupils of Mrs. Wilson's grade, 6C, visited the Williamstown Elderly Citizens' Club on Tuesday afternoon and entertained members with a concert.

Teachers leaving the school are Mrs. Dare, to Newport West Primary; Mr. Holod to Altona West Primary; Mr. Dalling to Teasdale Primary; Miss Barnett to East Kew Primary; Miss Purves to Brunswick Primary; Miss Taffe, leaving for further studies; Miss Muster, travelling overseas on working holiday; Mrs. Findlay to Meadow Fair North Primary.

Miss Mullins and Mr. Allaway have received part-time study leave and may not be at the school next year. Mrs. Cohen has applied for a school in the St. Kilda area but the appointment has not been finalised.

The school is disturbed by vandalism in the school yard, branches being torn from shrubs just as the garden was beginning to be established.

ALTONA GATE PRIMARY
Mrs. Urban, who has been at the school since 1967 will be transferring to Ormond next year. Others leaving are Mrs. Teagle, to Altona Primary; Mrs. Campbell to Woodville; Mrs. Stevens to Bellaire, Geelong.

Members of the school committee joined with friends of the Altona inspectorate at a dinner dance at The Nuts reception rooms at St. Albans. The evening, organised by Mr. Ross Stephens was highly successful.

The canteen committee last week entertained all mothers who helped in the canteen during the year at an enjoyable afternoon tea.

On Tuesday last week the Williamstown School of Ballet visited the school, entertaining the infant section. On Tuesday this week the mothers' club entertained members of the staff at morning tea and said farewell to teachers leaving the school. In the afternoon, children were entertained at a break-up party.

A recent meeting at the school approved an alternative programme of the school council. Members are to be elected by parents' and teachers to be elected by the teaching staff. In addition an education committee will also be formed and will include two elected members of the school council.

ALTONA NORTH PRIMARY
Presentation, night was enjoyed by pupils on Tuesday. The ceremony was held at Altona North High School's assembly hall.

Health plan

People in the western region should sink their differences and work together to receive Government assistance a public meeting was told last week.

The Rev. Bert Stevens was addressing 60 people at the Footscray Institute of Technology who had gathered to discuss community health needs in the west.

The meeting was chaired by Cr. A. Arnold, shire president of Bacchus Marsh and chairman of the region's steering committee on health care.

He said the aim of the gathering was to involve the people living in the west in the planning and provision of future health needs and services.

Dr. B. Hennessey, a member of the National Hospital and Health Services Commission, said he believed little research on health had been carried out in the region.

"There are too few submissions or reports available to the Government, which would be ready to allocate funds for a worthwhile programme on health," he said.

The discussion was followed by the election of eight people to represent health services in the region.

They are: Geoff Bel, Sister Connelly, Rod Gow, Stan Willis, Frank Salibra, Debra Mills, the Rev. Bert Stevens, the Rev. Ken Lindsay.

These representatives together with doctors and Government authorities will form the Interim Committee on Health Care, which will meet in the new year.

Loading up

Able Seaman Peter Hancock, 19, of Altona, is one of the 320 men serving aboard the Daring class destroyer, HMAS Vendetta.

Peter, who joined the ship 18 months ago, previously attended a course at HMAS Watson, Sydney, and his usual job on the ship is radar plotter. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hancock, of Curlew Avenue.

Peter is pictured loading shells inside one of the ship's three twin 4.5 inch gun turrets.

Violence costs young "tiger" $750 fine BUTT, WHACK BREAK NOSE

Tough young Michael Talkes did not mess about when he had words with a fellow-lodger in a boarding house. He used the head-butt trick then smashed the man across the nose with his fist.

His victim, a jockey-sized, slight, middle-aged man suffered a broken nose and two black eyes. A picture of him shown to the Williamstown Court last week was shocking.

Mr. G. Hoare, SM, convicted Talkes, 18, of Melbourne Road, Newport, of assault causing actual bodily harm. Then he heard that Talkes had been in a great deal of trouble with the law for years.

"It seems you have been institutionalised since you were 12," said Mr. Hoare. "That's where you learned to fight in this tigerish way."

He added that the offence was grave but Talkes said he now had a steady job and this offered a possibility of redemption.

He fined Talkes $750, with $38 costs, and ordered him to pay at the rate of $20 a week.

Peter Lindsay Melville, printer, told the court that he was hurt on Sunday, September 15.

Talkes, who then occupied the room next to his at Kilmartins' Private Hotel in Nelson Place, came to his door about 9.45 p.m.

Talkes wanted a light fitting. He told Talkes to get out. Talkes butted him in the face with his head then punched him. He blacked out.

Talkes pleaded not guilty. He gave evidence that Melville abused him and then, "I thought he would hit me."

"I hit him first with my head. He hit me on the body. I punched him once."

He said he tried to help Melville with a wet handkerchief, apologised, offered to pay for time he lost at work and shook hands.

They'd had words before over noise in Talkes' room.

Detective-Sergeant Ron Vienna prosecuted. Mr. D. Hamilton appeared for Talkes.

Light-fingered lad gets chance

An Altona youth who would "steal anything not screwed down" got a chance in Williamstown Court last Thursday to straighten himself out.

Adrian Graham Martin, 18, of Civic Parade, Altona, faced half a dozen charges of stealing tools, radio sets, car parts and other things over a period of about six months.

Constable Barry West ended his stealing spree when he spoke to Martin when he was sitting in his parked car in South

Kingsville at 7 p.m. on December 7.

Constable West told the court that he found in the car a radio that turned out to be stolen. Later, police found other stolen property at Martin's home.

Most of the stolen property was recovered because of Martin's co-operation, he said.

Mr. Hoare heard that Martin had been before a Children's Court for stealing in 1971.

He said: "If you want to make your car pretty you must work to do it, not steal from other people."

Mr. Hoare admitted Martin to probation for three years.

BUTCHER FINED

Butcher, Raymond Paten was fined $150 in Williamstown Court last Thursday for selling adulterated minced steak at a shop in Harrington Square, Altona.

Senior health inspector, Mr. Emanuel Mifsud, told the court that he bought minced steak from Paten on September 20. Analysis showed that it contained sulphur dioxide, a preservative.

Addition of preservative to minced steak was prohibited, he said.

Paten blamed an employee for adding the preservative to the meat in his absence.

Mr. Mifsud said Paten had a conviction in 1973 for a similar offence. Paten did not appear.

COMEBACK BY 'AUNT'

Charley's Aunt, a period comedy, will be staged by the Williamstown Little Theatre during February and March.

Auditions for the show will be held tomorrow night, Thursday, December 19, at the theatre in Albert Street, Williamstown at 8.

The producer will be Kevin Good, who has recently produced plays with the Malvern Theatre Company.

LES JOSLIN STARS WITH BALL

Williamstown is in a satisfactory position at the Seaside Oval after Saturday's play.

Captain Les Joslin, won the toss and put Ivanhoe into bat and it looked to be unsuccessful at the start of Ivanhoe's innings.

But Ivanhoe was dismissed for 137 with Joslin taking 7/51.

Williamstown was 0/43 at stumps, with Barry Hewett 23 not out and Barry McConnell 12.

Kevin Tweedly scored 43 for Williamstown's Seconds against Ivanhoe, which was 2/56 at stumps. Brunswick Thirds were dismissed for 170 with Neil Speakman taking 5/53.

Williamstown was 2/49 at stumps with Jess James scoring 45.

Boys of under-14 are invited to train on Tuesdays and Thursdays, at 3.45 p.m., for the Hatch Shield competition in the school holidays.

Trickey wins

Altona tennis player John Trickey (20) returned home last week after winning the Australian hard-court doubles title at Gympie, Queensland.

He was partnered by another Victorian, Trevor Little. The win climaxed a successful overseas tour in which the pair were successful in winning 12 out of 16 doubles titles in Europe and England.

John has now left for Sydney where he will contest the New South Wales titles before returning to compete in the Australian titles at Koo-ying.

Willi. bowlers win two

Two good wins and two near wins: that's Williamstown Bowling Club's penant report after the weekend's play.

And some outstanding scores, especially in the No. 3 side, in the B-4 competition that could result in a pennant this season, according to club coach and Press correspondent Arch Paxton.

"Good luck," says Arch. "And keep plugging."

2 up, 2 down

Both Newport women's bowling teams in Grade B2 recorded good wins last week. Newport 2 beat Auburn Heights 103-87, while Newport 3 beat Ormond Park 86-76.

But the top team, A2, lost to Werribee 78-102, and the fourth team, C3, lost to Spotswood-Kingsville 77-125.

Tomorrow (Thursday) the Newport club will have its annual break-up challenge match between women and men.

On Sunday, December 22, a gala mixed fours tournament, followed by a smorgasbord dinner dance, will be held.

On Sunday (December 8) club president, Arthur Shepherd, skippered the winning rink in the nominated mixed fours, accompanied by wife Dorothy, Gil Wise and May Wise. Runners-up were Pat and Edna Murphy, Ike and Edna Hulands.

The women's singles championship has now reached the semi-final stage, with Stella Rogash, Vera Hartnett as contenders, Jessie Schmidt, Phoebe Kisler and Isa Hart to compete for the title.
